Profile

Nicole graduated from the University of WI-LaCrosse in 2004. She joined the IBJI Rehab team of Lake Barrington in 2014. Nicole comes with a vast array of experience from treating upper extremity diagnosis, rehab, neurological and lymphedema/breast cancer patients. Nicole's passion is providing care to patients recovering from diagnoses of the upper extremity for conservative and post-surgical needs. This includes disorders of the hand, wrist, elbow, and shoulder. Nicole is a certified hand therapist and certified lymphedema specialist. She prefers a collaborative model where the patient is actively involved in their rehabilitation process, taking a proactive and patient-centered approach to all therapy sessions, including close communication with the physician.
